

Aerial view of amphibious operations at Slapton Sands, Devon, England. LCVP underway heading for beach.

Outposts of the Atlantic Wall; Rommel inspecting beachhead defenses, source and location unknown

Military road vehicles awaiting shipment to France at Southampton docks.

Part of Mulberry Harbor for Arromanches at Southampton Docks.

American locomotives sent to England being discharged from Liberty Ship.

Army and Navy craft at Southampton Docks preparing for D-Day.

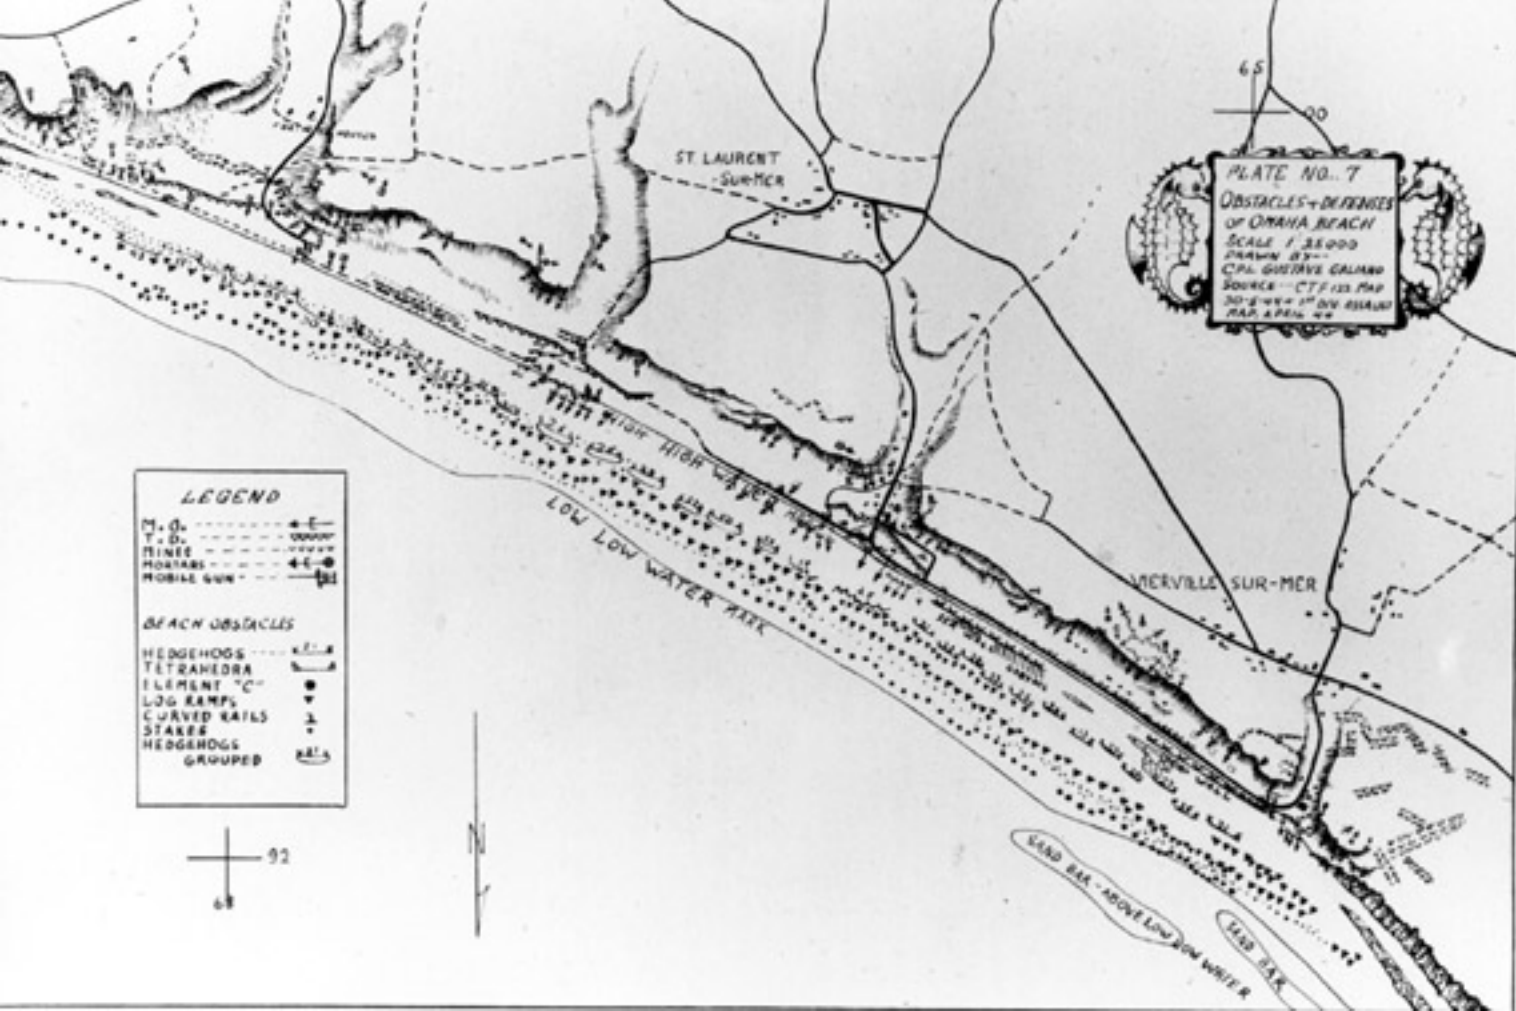

Empress Dock almost completely filled with landing craft preparing for D-Day

Winston Churchill visits Southampton docks shortly before D-Day

Obstacles and defenses of Omaha Beach, drawn by corporal
Gustave Galiand for the First Division, showing mines, mortars, mobile guns, ahedgehogs, tetrahedra, log ramps element C, curved rails, stakes, sand bars, low water areas

Seating diagram for Presentation of Overlord plans to Supreme Commander

DECLASSIFIED
BY DA 58513, Sept. 27, 1998
REF ID: A66995-553

FACING THIS DIRECTION

Seating Diagram for Presentation of OVERLORD
Plans to Supreme Commander

Portsmouth house exterior

Newbury, England area, June 5, 1944, just prior to the loading of paratroopers of the Airborne Division.

421508

Newbury, England area, June 5, 1944, just prior to the loading of paratroopers of the Airborne Division.

British soldier aboard ship reading Eisenhower's Order of the Day

Paratrooper in full gear climbing into plane

Gliders bring in supplies to U.S. Army troops fighting on Utah Beach, Les Dunes De Madeleine, France, June 6, 1944.

190393

Medics with wounded soldiers on Utah Beach, June 6, 1944.

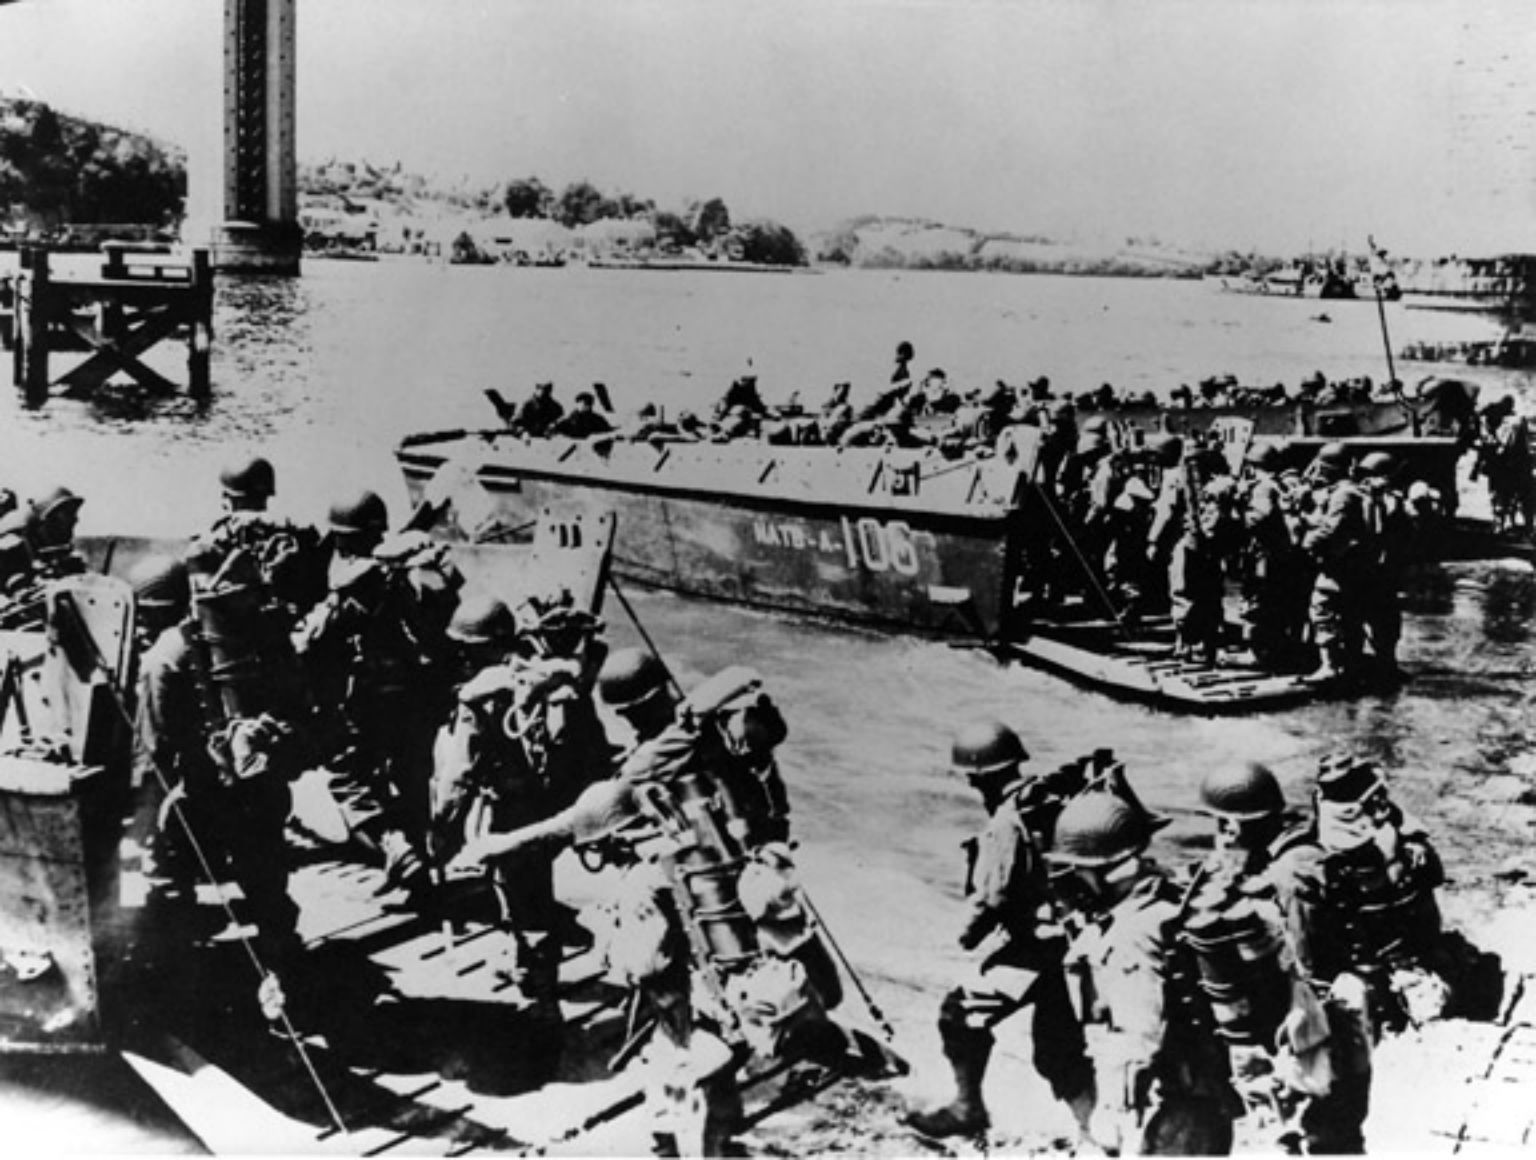

Scene from a Coast Guard landing barge, June 6, 1944.

Utah Beach - After gaining the comparative safety offered by a concrete wall, American troops of the 8th Infantry Regiment, 4th Infantry Division, move over the crest of a hill to the interior of North France, June 9, 1944.

Photograph of Allied troops loading onto LST's.

Allied soldiers killed in glider crash, damaged glider in background.

190474

Photograph of Omaga Beach landings taken from ship.

A scene from a beachhead landing. No further information. View from coast looking out to ships at sea. American troops marching toward sea; troops and equipment moving inland; dirigibles.

Units of the 2nd Infantry Division (Indian Head Division) coming ashore on Omaha Beach

Soldier gazes out to sea on Omaha Beach

A convoy of Landing Craft Infantry (Large) sails across the English Channel toward the Normandy Invasion beaches on "D-Day", 6 June 1944. Each of these landing craft is towing a barrage balloon for protection against low-flying German aircraft.

Among the LCI(L)s present are: LCI(L)-56, at far left; LCI(L)-325; and LCI(L)-4.

Photo # 26-G-2333 LCI(L) convoy crossing the English Channel on "D-Day", 6 June 1944

A convoy of Landing Craft Infantry (Large) sails across the English Channel toward the Normandy Invasion beaches on "D-Day", 6 June 1944. Each of these landing craft is towing a barrage balloon for protection against low-flying German aircraft.

Among the LCI(L)s present are: LCI(L)-56, at far left; LCI(L)-325; and LCI(L)-4.

Photo # 26-G-2335 "Rhino" ferry and tug approaches the Normandy shore, 6 June 1944

LCVP landing craft put troops ashore on "Omaha" Beach on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

The LCVP at far left is from USS Samuel Chase (APA-26).

Photo # 26-G-2337 Landing craft put troops ashore on "Omaha" Beach, 6 June 1944

Troops crouch inside a LCVP landing craft, just before landing on "Omaha" Beach on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # 26-G-2340 Troops in a LCPV just before landing on Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

A LCVP landing craft from USS Samuel Chase (APA-26) approaches "Omaha" Beach on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

The boat is smoking from a fire that resulted when a German machine gun bullet hit a hand grenade. After discharging his load of troops the boat's coxwain, Coastguardsman Delba L. Nivens of Amarillo, Texas, assisted by his engineman and bowman, put out the fire and returned to their transport.

Note the beach obstacles just ahead of the boat

Photo # 26-G-2342 Smoking LCV approaches Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

Army troops wade ashore on "Omaha" Beach during the "D-Day" landings, 6 June 1944.

They were brought to the beach by a Coast Guard manned LCVP.

Photo # 26-G-2343 Army troops wade ashore on "Omaha" Beach, 6 June 1944

The sinking Coast Guard manned USS LCI(L)-85 comes alongside another ship to transfer her survivors, after she was hit by German shells off "Omaha" Beach on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Note casualties on deck, including a man on a stretcher (left center) whose face has been obscured by wartime censors.

Also note binoculars atop a chart in the LCI(L)'s conning tower (upper right) and life raft (at left) with paddles secured to its side.

Photo # 26-G-2344 Sinking LCI(L)-85 comes alongside another ship, off Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

Troops and crewmen aboard a Coast Guard manned LCVP as it approaches a Normandy beach on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # 26-G-2349 Troops and crewmen on a landing craft approaching a Normandy beach, 6 June 1944

A Coast Guard manned LST approaches the Normandy coast on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Note small radar antenna on the LST's bridge, signalman using a blinker lamp, U.S. star markings on some truck covers, and the folded bicycle stowed atop the vehicle in the lower right.

Photo # 26-G-2358 LST approaches the Normandy coast, 6 June 1944

LCM landing craft, evacuating casualties from the invasion beaches, brings them to a transport for treatment, on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # 26-G-2368 LCM evacuates casualties from a Normandy beach, 6 June 1944

Coast Guard manned USS LST-21 unloads British Army tanks and trucks onto a "Rhino" barge during the early hours of the invasion, 6 June 1944.

Note the nickname "Virgin" on the "Sherman" tank at left.

Photo # 26-G-2370 USS LST-21 unloads British tanks and trucks off Normandy, 6 June 1944

A U.S. Coast Guard boat rescues two survivors from the waters off Normandy, after their ship was hit, circa 6 June 1944.

The ship ahead of this boat appears to be a minesweeper.

Photo # 26-G-2375 Coast Guardsmen rescue survivors off Normandy, June 1944

A survivor is pulled aboard a U.S. Coast Guard boat after his ship was hit during the Normandy landings, circa 6 June 1944.

Photo # 26-G-2378 Rescuing a survivor off Normandy, June 1944

LCM landing craft brings wounded U.S. Soldiers to a transport for evacuation from the combat zone, on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # 26-G-2386 LSM brings casualties alongside a transport, off Normandy, 6 June 1944

An American Soldier lies dead alongside an anti-landing craft obstruction on "Omaha" Beach, 6 June 1944. He is wearing an inflatable life belt.

Note rifles by his feet, an M1 semiautomatic rifle on the sand, with a M1903 bolt-action rifle laid across it.

Photo # 26-G-2397 American Soldier lies dead on Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

Men on board a Coast Guard manned LCI(L) attend Mass while en route to the invasion beaches, June 1944.

Photo # 26-G-2407 Mass on board a LCI en route to the Normandy invasion beaches, 6 June 1944

Landing ships putting cargo ashore on one of the invasion beaches, at low tide during the first days of the operation, June 1944.

Among identifiable ships present are USS LST-532 (in the center of the view); USS LST-262 (3rd LST from right); USS LST-310 (2nd LST from right); USS LST-533 (partially visible at far right); and USS LST-524.

Note barrage balloons overhead and Army "half-track" convoy forming up on the beach.

Photo # 26-G-2517 LSTs landing vehicles and cargo on a Normandy beach, June 1944

A sinking Coast Guard manned LCI(L) limps alongside a transport to evacuate her crew, on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Wartime censors have painted out the landing craft's number, but she may be LCI(L)-85, sunk by German shell fire off "Omaha" Beach.

Photo # 26-G-06-10-44(4) Sinking LCI(L) off Normandy, 6 June 1944

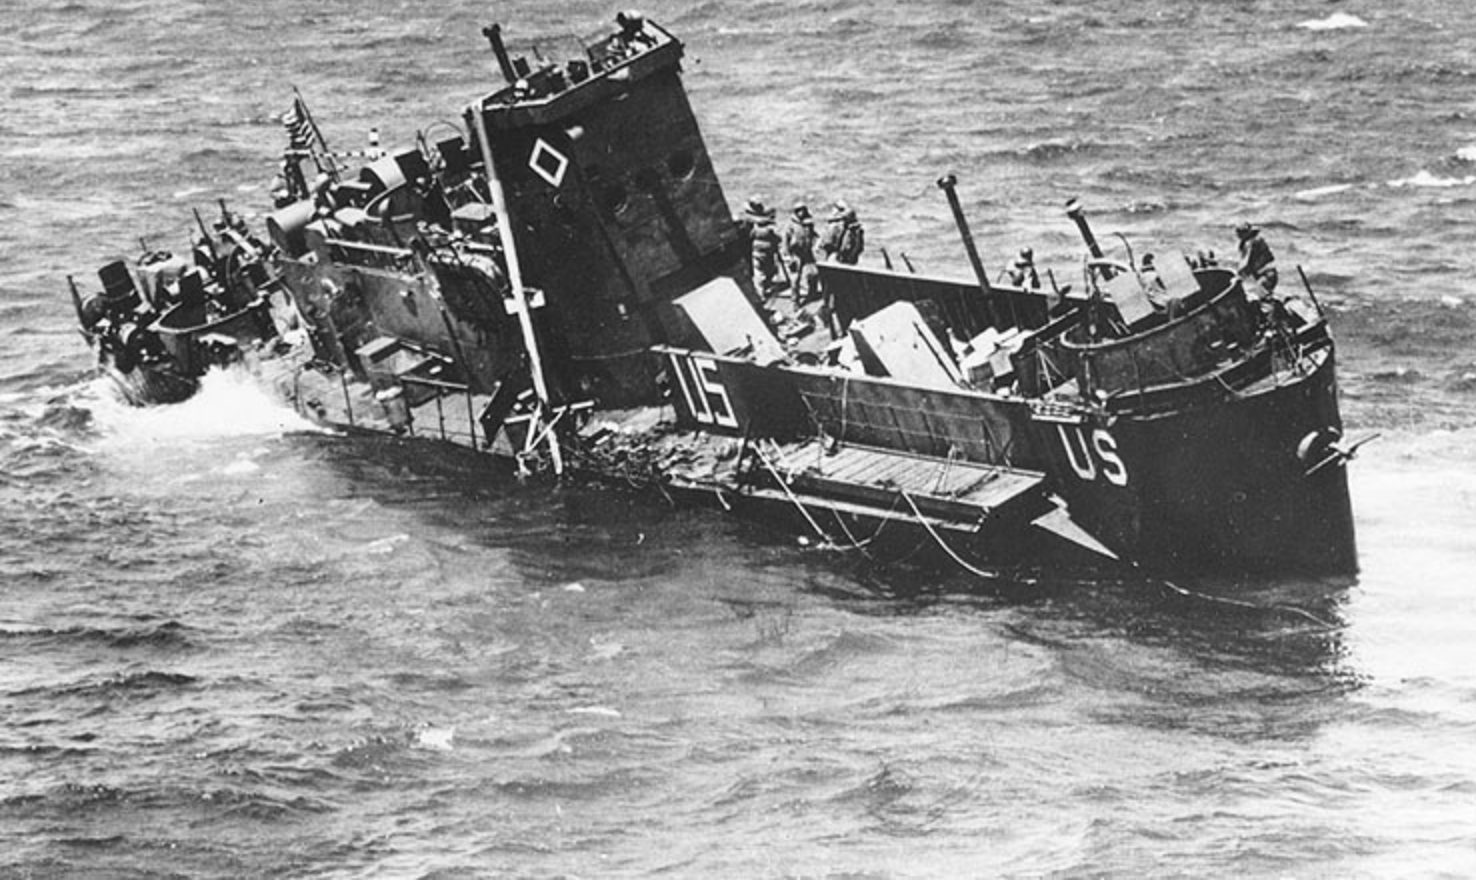

Photo # USAF 52406 A.C. "D-Day" invasion beach from the air, 6 June 1944

52406 AC

Casualties are transferred from an LCM to a larger ship for evacuation from the Normandy area.

Photograph released 8 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-45686 Transferring Normandy invasion casualties to a transport from a LCM

Scene on "Omaha" Beach on the afternoon of "D-Day", 6 June 1944, showing casualties on the beach, a bogged-down "Sherman" tank, several wrecked trucks and German anti-landing obstructions. A LST is beached in the left distance and invasion shipping is off shore.

Photo # 80-G-45714 Scene on Omaha Beach during the afternoon of 6 June 1944

U.S. Army Rangers resting in the vicinity of Pointe du Hoc, which they assaulted in support of "Omaha" Beach landings on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photograph was released for publication on 12 June 1944.

Note Ranger in right center, apparently using his middle finger to push cartridges into a M-1 carbine magazine. The carbine and a backpack frame are nearby.

Photo # 80-G-45715 Army Rangers resting in the Pointe du Hoc area of Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

U.S. Army Rangers show off the ladders they used to storm the cliffs at Pointe du Hoc, which they assaulted in support of "Omaha" Beach landings on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photograph was released for publication on 12 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-45716 Army Rangers at Pointe du Hoc, 6 June 1944

U.S. Army Rangers rest atop the cliffs at Pointe du Hoc, which they stormed in support of "Omaha" Beach landings on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photograph was released for publication on 12 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-45721 Army Rangers resting atop the Pointe du Hoc cliffs, 6 June 1944

Convoy of attack transports (APA) and LSTs anchored off shore in preparation for the invasion of France.

Photograph filed 10 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-59406 Invasion shipping off the Normandy invasion beaches, June 1944

Army troops on board a LCT, ready to ride across the English Channel to France. Some of these men wear 101st Airborne Division insignia.

Photograph released 12 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-59422 Troops on board a LCT, ready to cross the English Channel to Normandy, June 1944

Convoy of LCI(L)s en route to the Normandy beaches, with barrage balloons overhead, 6 June 1944.

Photographed from USS Ancon (AGC-4).

Note 20mm guns, with Mark 14 lead computing sights, on board Ancon.

Photo # 80-G-231247 Convoy of LCI(L)s en route to the Normandy invasion beaches, 6 June 1944

View of the invasion force off the Normandy coast, photographed from USS Ancon (AGC-4), with "Omaha" Beach in the background and barrage balloons overhead. The amount of smoke on the beach strongly indicates that the photograph was taken on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

USS LST-373 is at right.

Photo # 80-G-231248 Invasion shipping off Omaha Beach, June 1944

German shell explodes on the Saint Marcouf Islands, off "Utah" Beach, on the morning of "D-Day", 6 June 1944. These islands had been occupied by U.S. Army troops earlier that morning.

Photographed from USS Quincy (CA-71).

Photo # 80-G-231643 German shell explodes on Ste. Marcouf Is., off Utah Beach, 6 June 1944

USS LST-499 and other landing ships and craft off "Utah" Beach on 6 June 1944, with barrage balloons overhead. The British monitor Erebus is in the right distance, painted in pattern camouflage.

Photo # 80-G-231960 USS LST-499 and other landing craft off Utah Beach, 6 June 1944

Units of the invasion fleet, with an escort ship (DE) in left center, seen from USS Quincy (CA-71) on 6 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-231962 Normandy invasion shipping, seen from USS Quincy, 6 June 1944

Lieutenant Commander Knapper and Chief Yeoman Cook, of USS Texas (BB-35), examine a damaged German pillbox at Pointe du Hoc on "D-Day", 6 June 1944. Earlier in the day Texas had bombarded the point in support of the "Omaha" Beach landings.

The body of a dead U.S. Army Ranger, killed during the assault on Pointe du Hoc, lies covered up at right.

Photo # 80-G-235595 USS Texas men examine German pillbox at Point du Hoc, 6 June 1944

LCM landing craft pass USS LCI(L)-323 (at right, with a barrage balloon overhead) and an LCT off the invasion beaches, 6 June 1944.

Taken by Combat Photo Unit Eight (CPU-8).

Photo # 80-G-252367 LCMs pass USS LCI-323 and an LCT off the Normandy beaches, 6 June 1944

USS LCI(L)-217, with a barrage balloon in tow, en route for the French coast on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-252368 USS LCI(L)-217 en route to Normandy, 6 June 1944

USS Bayfield (APA-33), flagship for the "Utah" Beach landings, lowers LCVPs for the assault, 6 June 1944.

USS LST-346 is partially visible beyond Bayfield's stern, and USS Nevada is in the far right distance.

Photo # 80-G-252377 USS Bayfield off Utah Beach, 6 June 1944

USS Bayfield (APA-33), flagship for the "Utah" Beach landings, loading landing craft on "D-Day", 6 June 1944

Photo # 80-G-252391 USS Bayfield loading landing craft, off Utah Beach, 6 June 1944

Invasion craft, mainly LCI(L) types, photographed from USS Nevada (BB-36) on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-252410 Invasion craft seen from USS Nevada during the Normandy landings, 6 June 1944

LCI(L) convoy off the invasion beaches on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.
Photographed from USS Nevada (BB-36).

Photo # 80-G-252411 Convoy of LCI(L)s off the Normandy invasion beaches, 6 June 1944

Forward 14"/45 guns of USS Nevada (BB-36) fire on positions ashore, during the landings on "Utah" Beach, 6 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-252412 USS Nevada firing her forward 14" guns off Normandy, 6 June 1944

A flotilla of *LCI(L)*s underway off the invasion beaches, with barrage balloons overhead, 6 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-252499 LCI(L)s underway off the Normandy invasion beaches, 6 June 1944

*LCI(L)*s and a submarine chaser (PC, in right center) maneuver off the invasion beaches, under cover of barrage balloons, on 6 June 1944.

Photo # 80-G-252508 LCI(L)s and a PC maneuver off the Normandy invasion beaches, 6 June 1944

USS LST-325 (left) and USS LST-388 unloading while stranded at low tide during resupply operations, 12 June 1944.

Note: propellers, rudders and other underwater details of these LSTs; 40mm single guns; barrage balloon; "Danforth" style kedge anchor at LST-325's stern.

Photo # 80-G-252797 USS LST-325 & LST-388 unload at low tide during Normandy invasion, 12 June 1944

Senior U.S. officers watching operations from the bridge of USS Augusta (CA-31), off Normandy, 8 June 1944.

They are (from left to right): Rear Admiral Alan G. Kirk, USN, Commander Western Naval Task Force; Lieutenant General Omar N. Bradley, U.S. Army, Commanding General, U.S. First Army; Rear Admiral Arthur D. Struble, USN, (with binoculars) Chief of Staff for RAdm. Kirk; and Major General Hugh Keen, U.S. Army.

Photo # 80-G-252940 Senior officers on USS Augusta, during the Normandy invasion, June 1944

USS Ancon (AGC-4), command ship for the "Omaha" Beach landings, stands offshore on 7 June 1944.

USS PC-564 is in the foreground

Photo # 80-G-257287 USS Ancon and PC-564 off Normandy, 7 June 1944

The coast near Pointe du Hoc is bombarded in support of the "Omaha" Beach landings, on "D-Day", 6 June 1944. Photographed from USS Texas (BB-35).

Note church spire beyond the smoke in left center.

Photo # 80-G-352818 Bombardment of the coast near Pointe du Hoc, 6 June 1944

A U.S. Navy destroyer bombards the coast near Pointe du Hoc, in support of the "Omaha" Beach landings, on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photographed from USS Texas (BB-35).

Photo # 80-G-352840 Destroyer bombards the coast near Pointe du Hoc, 6 June 1944

Bombardment of the coast near Pointe du Hoc on "D-Day", 6 June 1944, in support of the "Omaha" Beach landings. Photographed from USS Texas (BB-35).

Photo # 80-G-352841 Bombardment of the coast near Pointe du Hoc, 6 June 1944

USS LCI(L)-553 and USS LCI(L)-410 land troops on "Omaha" Beach, during the initial assault there on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photographed from the conning station of another LCI(L) LCI(L)-553, hit by two shells, was left a wreck on the beach on "D-Day".

USS LCI(L)-553 and USS LCI(L)-410 land troops on "Omaha" Beach, during the initial assault there on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photographed from the conning station of another LCI(L) LCI(L)-553, hit by two shells, was left a wreck on the beach on "D-Day".

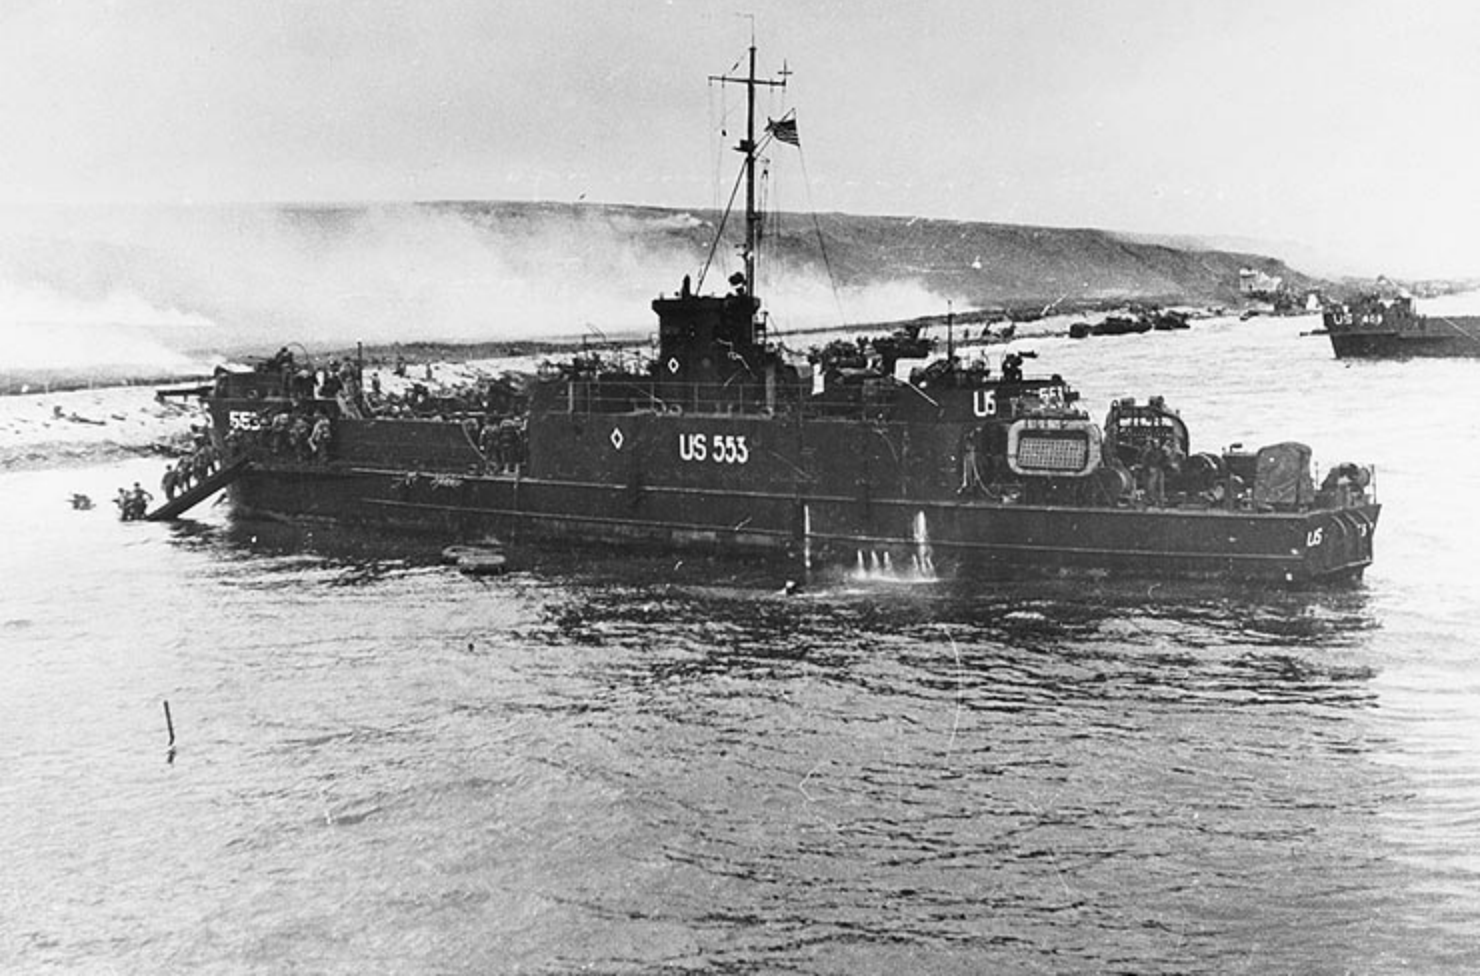

Photo # 80-G-421287 LCI(L)s landing troops on Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

USS LCI(L)-553 lands troops on "Omaha" Beach, during the initial "D-Day" assault, 6 June 1944.

This LCI(L) was lost during this action.

Photo # 80-G-421288 LCI(L)-553 landing troops on Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

Troops land from USS LCI(L)-412 during the "D-Day" assault on "Omaha" Beach, 6 June 1944.

Note "half-track" weapons carriers at the water's edge, with their guns pointing inland; troops dug in on the shore; and LCI(L)-412's bow 20mm gunner engaging enemy targets

Photo # 80-G-421289 USS LCI(L)-412 lands troops on Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

USS Tide (AM-125)

Sinking off "Utah" Beach after striking a mine during the Normandy invasion, 7 June 1944.

USS PT-509 and USS Pheasant (AM-61) are standing by. Photographed from USS Threat (AM-124).

Photo # 80-G-651677 USS Tide sinking off Normandy after hitting a mine, 7 June 1944

U.S. Navy PT boats crossing the English Channel on "D-Day", 6 June 1944, as twelve B-17 bombers pass overhead.

Note the twin .50 caliber machine guns on the boat from which the photograph was taken.

Photo # NH 44308 PT boats crossing the English Channel, with B-17s overhead, 6 June 1944

"D-Day" scene on "Omaha" Beach, 6 June 1944.

USS LCI(L)-553, lost at this time, is partially visible in the left background

LCVP landing craft at left is from USS Samuel Chase (APA-26).

Note vehicles and men on the beach, and "Caution .. No Signal .. Left Drive" sign on the vehicle in lower right.

Photo # SC-189899 D-Day scene on Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

189899-5

Wounded men of the 3rd Battalion, 16th Infantry Regiment, 1st Infantry Division, receive cigarettes and food after they had stormed "Omaha" beach on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # SC 189910 Army casualties on "Omaha" Beach, 6 June 1944

Dead Soldiers on "Omaha" beach on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.
They were members of the 3rd Battalion, 16th Infantry Regiment, 1st Infantry Division.

Note inflatable life belts draped over some of the bodies, and a box over another.

Photo # SC-189924 Dead Soldiers on Omaha Beach, June 1944

Troops of the 3rd Battalion, 16th Infantry Regiment, 1st Infantry Division assemble on a narrow strip of "Omaha" beach before moving inland near Collville-sur-Mer on "D-Day", 6 June 1944. USS LCI(L)-83 is in the background, landing more men

Photo # SC-189935 1st Infantry Division troops assemble on Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

Troops watch activity ashore on "Omaha" Beach as their LCVP landing craft approaches the shore on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # SC-189986 Troops in an LCVP approaching Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

USS LCI(L)-490 and USS LCI(L)-496 approach "Omaha" Beach.

The original caption gives date as 7 June 1944, but the heavy smoke ashore strongly indicates that the view was taken on "D-Day", 6 June 1944

Photo # SC 189987 LCI(L)-490 & LCI(L)-496 approach Omaha Beach, June 1944

Landing craft approach "Omaha" Beach on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.
Vessels present include LCM, LCI(L) and LCT types.

Photo # SC 189988 Landing craft approach Omaha Beach, June 1944

U.S. Soldiers of the 8th Infantry Regiment, 4th Infantry Division, move out over the seawall on "Utah" Beach, after coming ashore. Other troops are resting behind the concrete wall.

Photo dated 9 June 1944, but probably taken on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # SC 190062 Troops move over the Utah Beach seawall, June 1944

Troops and vehicles on board a landing craft approaching
"Omaha" Beach.

The original caption gives the date as 8 June 1944, but heavy smoke ashore strongly indicates that the photograph was taken on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # SC 190257 Troops and vehicles on a landing craft approaching Omaha Beach, June 1944

German shell hits beside an LST off "Utah" Beach, during the early stages of the landings on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

This LST appears to be very down at the stern.

Photo # SC 190276 German shell hits by an LST, off Utah Beach on 6 June 1944

190276

A U.S. Army weapons carrier moves through the surf toward "Utah" Beach, after being launched from its landing craft on 6 June 1944. Note .50 caliber machine gun on the vehicle, pointed skyward for anti-aircraft defense.

Photo # SC 190438 Weapons carrier goes ashore on Utah Beach, 6 June 1944

Landing ships (with USS LST-73 in the foreground), carrying troops of the 8th Infantry Regiment, 4th Infantry Division, move toward the north coast of France on "D-Day", 6 June 1944. They are protected against low-flying enemy aircraft by gas-filled balloons.

Photo # SC 190462 USS LST-73 moves toward the Normandy invasion beaches, 6 June 1944

U.S. troops use a lifeline to rescue several men from a landing craft that was sunk by enemy fire on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Photo # SC 320869 Troops rescue men from a sunken landing craft on "D-Day", 6 June 1944

U.S. Army troops administer first aid to the survivors of sunken landing craft, on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

USS LCT-29 is in the background.

Note M1 rifles carried by some of these Soldiers.

Photo # SC 320870 Troops give first aid to survivors of sunken landing craft on "D-Day", 6 June 1944

German prisoners of war in a barbed-wire enclosure on "Utah" Beach, 6 June 1944.

Note the group of African-American Soldiers in the near center distance, "Sherman" tank (with name "Delphia" on its side) beyond them, and USS LCT-855 stranded on the beach behind the tank.

Troops in an LCV landing craft approaching "Omaha" Beach on "D-Day", 6 June 1944.

Note helmet netting; faint "No Smoking" sign on the LCV's ramp; and M1903 rifles and M1 carbines carried by some of these men.

Photo # SC 320901 Troops in a LCVP approaching Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

Troops wade ashore from a LCVP landing craft, off "Omaha" Beach, 6 June 1944.

Note DUKWs and half-tracks at the water line, lines of men headed inland, and M1903 and M1 rifles carried by some of the troops leaving the landing craft.

Photo # SC 320902 Troops wade ashore from an LCVP, on Omaha Beach, 6 June 1944

WWII: Europe: France; "Into the Jaws of Death - U.S. Troops wading through water and Nazi gunfire", ca. 06/06/1944

The beachhead is secure, but the price was high. A Coast Guard
Combat Photographer came upon this monument to a dead
American soldier somewhere on the shell-blasted shore of Normandy., ca. 06/1944

A platoon of black troops surround a farm house as they prepare to eliminate a German sniper holding up an advance, on Omaha Beachhead, near Vierville Sur-Mer-France, June 10, 1944.

"Gare Maritime" typed on photograph. Damage to port railroad facility due to Allie bombing, unidentified location, probably Cherbourg.

Gare Maritime

General Dwight D. Eisenhower aboard the HMS Apollo, a mine layer, for visit to beachhead along French coast.

Secured beachhead, D-Day plus1. Not identified, but possibly on Utah Beach, near Les Dunes de Madeleine, France.

Allied Invasion troops land on the beaches of Normandy....Infantry coming ashore from LCI's on beaches of Queen sector. They are seen wading with equipment and bicycles.

Germans, former "Harrenvolk" come over the crest of a hill with their hands over their heads in surrender, and are rounded up by American soldiers, one of whom can be seen at the extreme right. Utah Beach, Quinville, France

Brigadier General Theodore Roosevelt, sitting in jeep named "Rough Rider after a famous outfit headed by his father in the Spanish-American War.

Generals Dwight D. Eisenhower, Henry "Hap" Arnold, Admiral Ernest King, and General George C. Marshall, aboard navy vessel during visit to Normandy invasion coast.

Lt. General Omar Bradley pins the Bronze Star on Colonel V.R. Pogue, one of the first group of officers and men to receive the award in World War II.

General Elwood Quesada helping unidentified soldier refuel a plane on an emergency landing strip near Cherbourg.

The millionth American soldier to embark from Southampton

German prisoners arriving at Southampton Docks.

German general being brought ashore at Southampton.

Captured German submarine arriving at Southampton Docks to be placed on view to general public.

French civilians stand at attention and a GI salutes as the American and French flags are unfurled side by side in Cherbourg shortly after its liberation.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower presents an award for bravery to Corporal Stanley Appleby, Clarksville, New York (member of the US 1st Division). General Omar Bradley far left; Sergeant Richard Gallager, New York, NY far right.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower decorates US troops of the US 1st Division. L to R: Generals Clarence Ralph Huebner, Omar Bradley, Eisenhower.

Far left, General Omar Bradley, General Dwight D. Eisenhower shaking hands with Sergeant Richard Gallagher, New York, NY after presenting him with the Distinguished Service Medal. On Gallagher's right is Corporal Stanley Appleby, Clarksville, NY, members of the US 1st Division.

Generals Dwight D. Eisenhower and Omar Bradley chat with Staff Sergeant K.N. Hougard, Portland, Oregon, waist gunner of a bomber which was shot down over France. Dressed in civilian clothes, Sgt. Hougard tells of his escape to American lines aided by French civilians.

French civilians place crosses at the graves of American soldiers in a cemetery on Omaha Beach.

275429

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Two sailors at Times Square on D-day looking at the latest news line on the Times building.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Blood donors on D-day.
CREATED/PUBLISHED
1944 June 6.

New York, New York. Noon mass at Saint Vincent de Paul's Church on D-Day.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

[illegible]

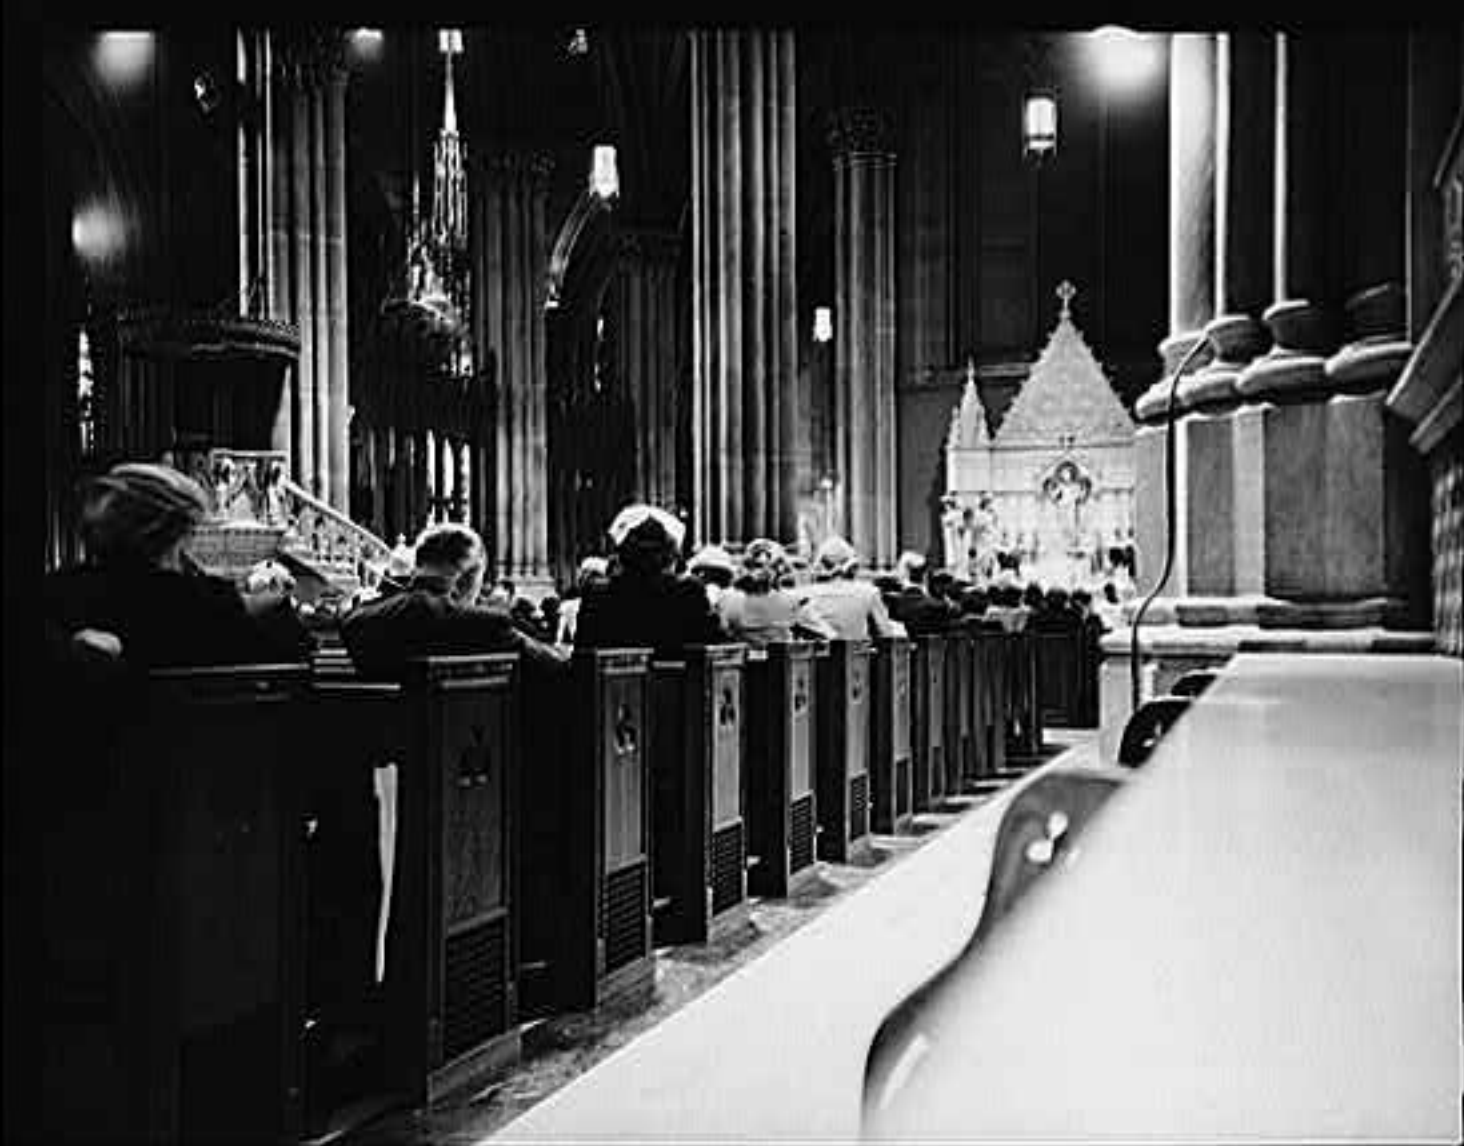

New York, New York. Seven o'clock mass on D-day in the Lady Chapel, Saint Patrick's Cathedral.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Entering the synagogue on West Twenty-third Street for D-day services.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

A black and white photograph of a synagogue entrance. A large sign above the double doors reads: "THIS SYNAGOGUE WILL BE OPEN FOR 24 HOURS AND SPECIAL SERVICES ON D DAY ALL ARE WELCOME". Above the sign is a Star of David. To the left of the entrance, a sign lists "TICKETS $1.00" and "ADULTS $1.00". To the right, a sign lists "LONG KNIFE", "KABALI", "BIBI", "D. NAFI", "BIBI", "REDA". In the foreground, three people are walking away from the camera towards the entrance: a woman in a light-colored suit, a child, and another woman in a light-colored dress. The building has ornate architectural details and a metal fence in front.

THIS SYNAGOGUE
WILL BE OPEN FOR 24 HOURS
AND SPECIAL SERVICES ON D DAY ALL ARE WELCOME

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. D-day services in a synagogue on West Twenty-third Street.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

34042-C

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Leaving the synagogue on West Twenty-third Street after D-day services.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

THIS SYNAGOGUE
WILL BE OPEN FOR 24 HOURS
SPECIAL SERVICES ^{AND} "D" DAY ^{ALL ARE WELCOME}

THEY WOULD
CALLED TODAY
PRIVATE DIAL

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Seven o'clock mass on D-day in the Lady Chapel, Saint Patrick's Cathedral.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. Some of the crowd at Madison Square on D-day.
CREATED/PUBLISHED
1944 June 6.

New York, New York. A crowd on D-day in Madison Square.
CREATED/PUBLISHED
1944 June 6.

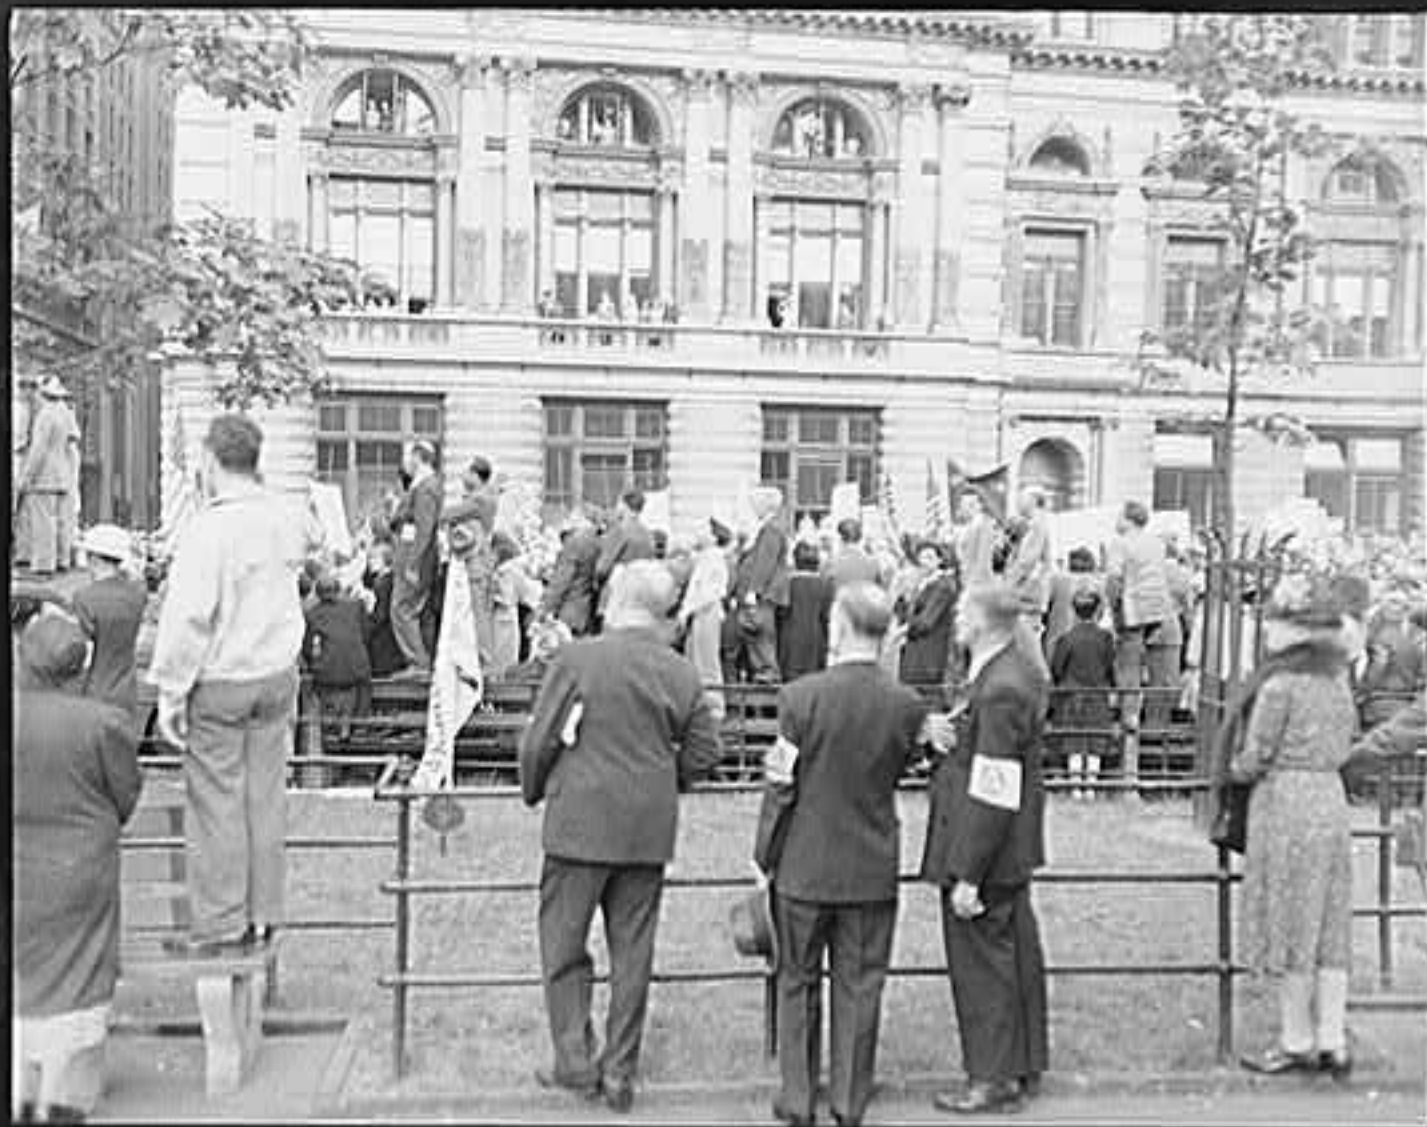

New York, New York. A crowd on D-day in Madison Square. Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia standing in the crowd.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. John Dudley at the D-day rally in Madison Square.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Monsignor William E. Cashin at the D-day rally in Madison Square.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Reverend A. Hamilton Nesbitt at the D-day rally in Madison Square.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Rabbi Stephen S. Wise at the D-day rally in Madison Square.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Igor Gorin at the D-day rally in Madison Square.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. Lily Djanel at the D-day rally in Madison Square.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. June 6, 1944. A woman addressing the crowd at the D-day rally at Madison Square.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

New York, New York. Times Square and vicinity of D-day.

CREATED/PUBLISHED

1944 June 6.

MAGIC CARPET

EMBASSY MUSEUM

THIRDS
NEWS

BUTONI

DOI: 10.1002/eqe

New York, New York. Preschool age children at L'Ecole maternelle francaise on D-day. CREATED/PUBLISHED
1944 June 6.

54-87-5